What is Air Force ROTC?

Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) is an educational program that allows students to pursue a commission in the United States Air or Space Force, while obtaining a college degree. The mission of Air Force ROTC is to build leaders of character for tomorrow's Air Force and Space Force.

Program Requirements

Typically, full time students at The Citadel with at least three years left in their degree program are eligible to join.

- U.S. citizenship or naturalization
- Minimum 2.0 term & cumulative GPA
- Maintain height & weight standards
  - AF Physical Fitness Assessment
- Minimum grade of C in AFROTC courses
- Passing DoD certified medical exam
  - Attendance at all weekly AFROTC training events

Comprehensive program requirements are listed at www.afrotc.com/what-it-takes/

Cadet Curriculum

On a weekly basis, all cadets will attend an Aerospace Studies class, physical training sessions and a Leadership Lab. The program is tailored to four academic years but can be condensed to three or extended to five years in certain circumstances.

-General Military Course-(GMC)

Typically composed of freshman and sophomore students, the GMC classes focus on the culture, benefits and history of the Air Force.

Freshmen: Fall AERO 101, Spring AERO 102
Sophomores: Fall AERO 201, Spring AERO 202

-Field Training Evaluation*-(FT)

A selective and intense summer training session, usually attended between a cadet's sophomore and junior years, FT places a heavy focus on leadership under pressure, teamwork, and expeditionary skills.

-Professional Officer Course-(POC)

Upon completing FT, cadets enter the POC, with emphasis on leadership principles, national security topics, and active duty preparation.

Juniors: Fall AERO 301, Spring AERO 302
Seniors: Fall AERO 401, Spring AERO 402

-Leadership Lab-(LLAB)

LLAB is a weekly training session designed to acclimate cadets to the military environment and to develop their leadership skills.
AERO 450

-Physical Training-(PT)

Physical fitness is a way of life for military service members. Cadets are expected to attend one weekly Air Force PT session in addition to The Citadel Corps PT.

*Cadets must be nationally selected for Field Training

Scholarship Opportunities
