Undergraduate Requirements

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

1. Are there initial teacher certification programs at the undergraduate level?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

If yes, for each element listed below, indicate if it is required for admission into or exit from any of your teacher preparation program(s) at the undergraduate level. If no, leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered) then click save at the bottom of the page.

2. What is the minimum GPA required for admission into the program? (Leave blank if you indicated that a minimum GPA is not required in the table above.)

2.75

3. What is the minimum GPA required for completing the program? (Leave blank if you indicated that a minimum GPA is not required in the table above.)

2.75

4. Please provide any additional information about the information provided above:

South Carolina law requires that a minimum 2.75 cumulative GPA on a 4.00 scale for admission into an undergraduate preparation program. However, the dean has the discretion to approve admission of a candidate with a cumulative GPA as low as 2.50 if compelling evidence indicates that the candidate will be successful in the preparation program.

Postgraduate Requirements

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year’s IPRC.

1. Are there initial teacher certification programs at the postgraduate level?

☒ Yes
 ☐ No

If yes, for each element listed below, indicate if it is required for admission into or exit from any of your teacher preparation program(s) at the postgraduate level. If no, leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered) then click save at the bottom of the page.

2. What is the minimum GPA required for admission into the program? (Leave blank if you indicated that a minimum GPA is not required in the table above.)

2.5

3. What is the minimum GPA required for completing the program? (Leave blank if you indicated that a minimum GPA is not required in the table above.)

2.5

4. Please provide any additional information about the information provided above:

The Citadel requires candidates to meet the undergraduate admission requirement of holding a Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution with an earned cumulative GPA of 2.50 or higher. Thus, the requirement for undergraduate admission GPA of 2.75 does not apply for graduate admissions. Rather, the state requires that the admission requirements for initial education programs at the graduate level are similar to other graduate programs at the institution (SC Program Admission Requirements, 2021, p. 1).

Supervised Clinical Experience

Note: The clinical experience requirements in this section are preloaded from the prior year's IPRC. Teacher preparation providers will enter the number of participants each year.

Provide the following information about supervised clinical experience in 2023-24. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(C\)\(iii\), §205\(a\)\(1\)\(C\)\(iv\))

Are there programs with student teaching models?

Please provide any additional information about or descriptions of the supervised clinical experiences:

Per South Carolina Law, undergraduate teacher candidates are required to clock 100 hours of clinical experiences prior to student teaching, while Master of Arts in Teaching candidates are required to complete 75 hours. At both levels, however, candidates often complete more than the required hours prior to internship as well as during the student teaching internship. The student teaching internship is a required minimum of 60 full time days. Over the course of both pre-student teaching internship and the student teaching internship, Citadel teacher candidates have clinical experiences in urban, suburban, and rural schools.

Enrollment and Program Completers

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2023-24.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205(b)(1)(H))

What are CIP Codes?

☐ No teachers prepared in academic year 2023-24

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2023-24. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. \(\$205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\)\)

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

What are CIP Codes?

Does this teacher preparation provider grant degrees upon completion of its programs?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

☐ No teachers prepared in academic year 2023-24

Program Assurances

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year’s IPRC.

1. Program preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

☒ Yes

☐ No

2. Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

☒ Yes

☐ No

3. Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

☐ Yes

☐ No

☒ Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

☒ Yes

☐ No

5. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

☒ Yes

☐ No

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

☒ Yes

☐ No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

☒ Yes

☐ No

8. Describe your institution’s most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

The Citadel’s Zucker Family School of Education (ZFSOE) continues to have close relationships with Lowcountry school districts and the State Department of Education through a variety of programs and partnerships. Local school superintendents serve on the ZFSOE’s Developmental Advisory Board. Local teachers, administrators, and interdisciplinary faculty from both the School of Humanities and Social Sciences and the Swain Family School of Science and Mathematics serve on the ZFSOE’s Professional Education Board. Qualified school personnel teach courses leading to certification. Citadel faculty members serve on local school improvement councils, school boards, and state advisory boards, enabling them to listen to current concerns/needs from multiple constituent groups and to be responsive change agents for ensuring appropriate and equitable teaching and learning. The majority of program completers are hired into Lowcountry school districts. However, some completers first meet military obligations, and then transition into teaching careers. Candidates in both undergraduate and graduate programs are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities in EDUC 312: The Exceptional Learner and EDUC 514: Exceptional Children in School, respectively. For example, one of the course activities requires the development of a Multi-tiered System of Support (MTSS) portfolio with five resources to five different focus areas. Candidates are required to include students with a gifted and talented profile, autism, reading difficulties, and two other areas of focus. The final MTSS portfolio consists of scholarly articles and resources that contain activities and strategies for working with students with exceptionalities specific to candidates' content areas and grade levels. As well, candidates are to provide additional examples of accommodations, modifications, and uses of technology. This activity is just one of three that are completed by candidates during the ten hours of field experiences occurring within EDUC 312 and EDUC 514. Also included in the course learning outcomes is ensuring candidates gain an understanding of the ideologies and characteristics associated with differentiated instruction and universal design for learning (UDL). To ensure candidate preparation to provide instruction to students with limited English proficiency, the Zucker Family School of Education (ZFSOE) has added two courses to our course offerings. One course is focused on Principles and Strategies for Teaching Multilanguage Learners, K-12 (EDUC 668) and the other is called Cultural and Linguistic Diversity in Education (EDUC 665). These courses can be used to earn the state of South Carolina's add-on endorsement in ESOL Education, and they are required of those preservice teachers who are supported by our Grow Your Own grant. Thus, these preservice teachers earn both an initial teaching license and take the coursework that leads to the add-on endorsement in ESOL Education when they are enrolled in our MAT programs in science and mathematics. As of fall of 2024, EDUC 665: Cultural and Linguistic Diversity in Education became a required course in all of our MAT programs, and EDUC 668: Principles and Strategies for Teaching Multilanguage Learners, K-12 is an available elective. This course assesses candidates' understanding of how to work with multilanguage learners and learners from non-dominant communities through multiple means, including an analysis of existing curricula using New York University's Culturally Responsive-Sustaining Scorecard, candidates' own writing about their own development of cultural identities, and lesson and unit plans in which candidates explicitly outline how their instructional planning leverages the strengths and addresses the needs of both multilanguage learners and learners from non-dominant communities. At the undergraduate level, candidates explicitly outline how their instructional planning leverages the strengths and addresses the needs of both multilanguage learners and learners from non-dominant communities in EDUC 306: Teaching Reading and Writing in Middle and High School Classrooms. Within the context of the Lowcountry region (southeastern South Carolina), there is a widely diverse population in regard to socioeconomic status (SES) and exposing teacher candidates to varying SES communities positions them to have a multitude of experiences in different educational settings. All pre-internship education courses consist of a minimum of 10 to 20 hours of field experience which are evenly divided among rural, suburban, and urban environments in and around Charleston. These placements ensure our completers have the experience of working with students from multiple cultures, language backgrounds, and varied socioeconomic status. Along with each experience, candidates are expected to reflect in writing about those experiences and share their perspectives with others. In doing so, they share stories of success as well as concerns that they observe. These candid discussions along with regular communication with P-12 cooperating teachers allow the faculty to have windows of understanding about the realities of teaching that our program completers face.

Annual Goals: Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

No

2. Describe your goal.

Our goal is to retain these five candidates, supporting them through graduation, while actively recruiting additional mathematics education majors.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

Yes

No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

The EPP was able to retain five candidates who are being prepared to teach Mathematics and successfully enrolled two more Mathematics candidates.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

In the graduate program (e.g., MAT Middle Grades Mathematics or MAT Secondary Mathematics), the ZFSOE will be asking the South Carolina Department of Education to agree to a two-year extension on its participation in the SC GYO Grant. This grant would allow the ZFSOE to further promote interest in those seeking initial certification in either the MAT Middle Grades or Secondary program. The faculty and staff are also working to streamline advising practices to ensure that candidates can complete the courses and licensure exams on a timeline that aligns with their goals.

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

The Grow Your Own program is a grant from the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education and is providing financial support to help paraprofessionals obtain their teaching certification.

Annual Goals: Science

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

Report Progress on Last Year’s Goal (2023-24)

1. Did your program prepare teachers in science in 2023-24?

If no, leave remaining questions for 2023-24 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

2. Describe your goal.

Yes, we have retained four (three middle grades, one secondary) science majors in the 2023-2024 academic year. Our goal is to retain these four candidates, supporting them through graduation, while actively recruiting additional science education majors.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

Yes, we have retained all four candidates and were able to enroll two more secondary candidates.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

The ZFSOE is continuing to recruit and retain more candidates to pursue either their undergraduate or graduate degree in a science-based content area. In the undergraduate program, the school developed an education minor in the hopes of drawing in students from other majors to either change their major or to consider double majoring. At the writing of this response, the ZFSOE currently has approximately 35 education minors. Additionally, for those already in the program, teacher education faculty and staff are actively participating in training in relation to the Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP).

This supports freshmen and sophomore students for strategically applied advising practices. In the graduate program (e.g., MAT Middle Grades Science or MAT Secondary Biology), the ZFSOE will be asking the SC Department of Education to agree to a two-year extension on its participation in the South Carolina Grow Your Own Grant. This grant would allow the ZFSOE to further promote interest in those seeking initial certification in either the MAT Middle Grades or Secondary program. The faculty and staff are also working to streamline advising practices to ensure that candidates can complete the courses and licensure exams on a timeline that aligns with their goals.

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period.  \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Summary Pass Rates

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period.  \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

The ability for teacher candidates to integrate technology effectively into the curricula and instruction, and use it to effectively collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning are requirements by not just The Citadel, but also requirements of the state of South Carolina and CAEP. Citadel teacher candidates are expected to first utilize technology to learn and then to integrate technology into their own lesson preparation and instruction. They are then asked to share their planning and reflections about their impact on P-12 student learning in both face-to-face experiences as well as through the electronic assessment and data management system. In addition, our candidates gain virtual teaching and learning experiences in their field experiences to prepare them for today's changing demands. Faculty integrate multiple forms of technology during instruction. These include (1) the Canvas learning management system (LMS) for communication, instruction, or assignment submission; (2) Student Learning and Licensure assessment system for completing program and unit assessments; (3) instructor computer stations, projection system, SmartBoards® for classroom instruction; (4) portable computers with internet connections for mobile instruction; (5) electronic research databases for papers and projects; and (6) professional web resources. Universal Design for Learning: Teacher candidates create lesson plans using a standard format. Each plan includes universal components such as (1) standards, (2) objectives, (3) background knowledge, (4) assessment, (5) accommodations for learning differences, (6) technology use, and (7) career connections. Candidates create supplemental materials using active learning systems such as Kahoot!, Padlet, Mural, FlipGrid, etc. Candidates are required to place lesson plans and supplemental materials in the Student Learning and Licensure assessment system. Candidate competence is monitored through formative and summative evaluation of work samples, self-evaluation, and cooperating teacher observations. As is emphasized in our conceptual framework, candidates are expected to: (1) utilize the knowledge gained from developmental and learning theories to establish and implement an educational program that is varied, creative, and nurturing; (2) model instructional and/or leadership theories of best practice; and (3) integrate appropriate technology to enhance learning. They should be able to apply their understanding of both context and research to plan, structure, facilitate, and monitor effective teaching and learning in the context of continual assessment and research their practice by reflectively and critically asking questions and seeking answers. As part of South Carolina's SC Teaching Standards evaluation system, teacher candidates use P-12 student assessment data to develop long-range plans based on expected content standards. This information may come from specific test data such as state required tests (PASS and HSAP), district testing such as the Measures of Academic Progress (MAPS), grades in previous courses, Individualized Graduation Plans (IGPs), Individualized Education Plans (IEPs), 504 Plans and in class surveys that use universal design for learning (UDL). Candidates are expected to reflect and modify plans based on assessment measures. For short-range instructional planning and assessment data utilization, candidates reflect on their instruction using a set of questions that help them move from grading and returning work, to a teacher-researcher model that helps them redefine how best to teach and if needed, re-teach their students.

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

The initial teacher preparation program requires undergraduate education candidates to complete EDUC 312: Teaching Students with Special Needs and graduate education candidates to complete EDUC 514: The Exceptional Child in the School. These courses focus on exceptional learners and were overhauled in light of new policies and best practices related to Universal Design for Learning (UDL) in an effort to reach the needs of all learners. Undergraduate education candidates in Physical Education take PHED 203: Accommodating Persons with Disabilities within Sport and Physical Activity and graduate education candidates take HESS 534: Accommodating Persons with Disabilities within Sport and Physical Activity. An additional course, EDUC 306: Teaching Reading and Writing in the Middle and High School and EDUC 592: Teaching Reading and Writing in the Middle and High School is required for undergraduate and graduate education candidates, respectively. These courses prepare candidates to teach students with varying disabilities and learning differences, which may span from profound physical or mental limitations to giftedness. Education candidates learn how to modify instructional methods and implement classroom management strategies to address the academic, social and emotional, and cognitive differences of students with special needs. Physical Education education candidates learn the legal, ethical, and practical definitions of involving students with disabilities in physical activity, physical education, and sport settings. Field experiences that include exposure to self-contained and resource special education classrooms are required for these courses.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

The initial teacher preparation program requires undergraduate education candidates to complete EDUC 312: Teaching Students with Special Needs while graduate education candidates complete EDUC 514: The Exceptional Child in the School. Our programs, which are comprised of “regular education” candidates, are intended to provide guidance relative to serving as a member of the IEP team. The courses aforementioned have several course learning outcomes that align to candidates’ understanding related to being an active member of the IEP team. This includes, 1. Articulating the general historical framework from which current law evolved and special education processes; 2. Identifying factors that should guide planning and placement decisions for students with various disabilities; 3. Identifying modifications and accommodations that would be made as a general classroom teacher to best serve students with various exceptionalities; and 4. Explaining the nuances of communication and collaboration with professional and families of exceptional learners. These classes require candidates to actively participate in a specific number of field experience/practicum hours. In these experiences, candidates observe both general classroom teachers as well as teachers whose primary responsibility is working with students with exceptionalities.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

The Zucker Family School of Education (ZFSOE) has added two courses to our course offerings. One course is focused on Principles and Strategies for Teaching Multilanguage Learners, K-12 (EDUC 668) and the other is called Cultural and Linguistic Diversity in Education (EDUC 665). These courses can be used to earn the state of South Carolina’s add-on endorsement in ESOL Education, and they are required of those preservice teachers who are supported by our Grow Your Own grant. Thus, these preservice teachers earn both an initial teaching license and take the coursework that leads to the add-on endorsement in ESOL Education when they are enrolled in our MAT programs in science and mathematics. Beginning in the fall of 2024, EDUC 665: Cultural and Linguistic Diversity in Education will be a required course in all of our MAT programs, and EDUC 668: Principles and Strategies for Teaching Multilanguage Learners, K-12 will be an available elective. This course assesses candidates’ understanding of how to work with multilanguage learners and learners from non-dominant communities through multiple means, including an analysis of existing curricula using New York University’s Culturally Responsive-Sustaining Scorecard, candidates’ own writing about their own development of cultural identities, and lesson and unit plans in which candidates explicitly outline how their instructional planning leverages the strengths and addresses the needs of both multilanguage learners and learners from non-dominant communities. At the undergraduate level, candidates explicitly outline how their instructional planning leverages the strengths and addresses the needs of both multilanguage learners and learners from non-dominant communities in EDUC 306: Teaching Reading and Writing in Middle and High School Classrooms.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

- ☐ Yes
- ☒ No

If yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

- a. Teach students with disabilities effectively
- b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.
- c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.
